Dear Mr. Collins,

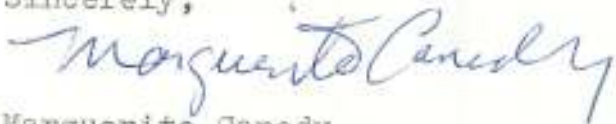

It needed that reminder in the last Echoesto bestir me . Thus I send a small contribution.

You might check your files for the name of Louis DiGuilio, 208 Hearth Road - Broomall, Pa. 19008. Louis was the waist gunner on the Methuselah. He sends Bill a card at Christmas and that's about it..

In this month's Reader's Digest there was a condensation of the book, Song of A Valiant Lady, the life of a flying fortress, by Nathan M. Adams. Have you read this? My son wanted me to get the book for him but no bookstore has it listed. Do you know anything about this - or where I could find the book?????

The name of the plane was "Shoo Shoo Baby". It is in the process of being restored then will become a permanent monument at the Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio.

Sincerely,

Marguerite Canedy
