

22 January 1988

Mr. Clyde Wiggins
2306 Pontiac Dr
Tallahassee, FL 32301

Dear Clyde:

Enclosed are copies of the materials that I said I would send along. Each of these pages has something relating to William E. Williams.

My notes also indicate that his serial number was 14058038. He was a gunner with the 423rd squadron, and was assigned to William Warner's crew originally at Wendover, UT. They proceeded by aircraft, B-17 Es, to Westover, MA, where they received her B-17 aircraft.

The group flew from Westover to Gander, Newfoundland, to Prestwick, Scotland, and then to Thurleigh, six miles north of Bedford, England.

Williams received the Air Medal on 1 Dec 42, oak leaf clusters in lieu of additional Air Medals 7 Feb 43 and 13 Mar 43. He also was awarded the Purple Heart medal for wounds received in action.

Sorry to have been so delinquent, but I lost your address. But I had kept the material intact so that I could mail it, as I felt sure you would contact me again.

Glad to be of help.

Sincerely yours,

22 January 1983

Mr. Clyde Williams
3300 Pontiac Dr
Tallahassee, FL 32301

Dear Clyde:

Enclosed are copies of the materials that I said I would send along. Each of these papers has something relating to William E. Williams.

My notes also indicate that his serial number was 14028038. He was a gunner with the 43rd squadron, and was assigned to William Warner's crew originally at Wendover, UT. They proceeded by air-raft, B-17 Es, to Westover, MA, where they received her B-17 air-raft.

The group flew from Westover to Gander, Newfoundland, to Prestwick, Scotland, and then to Thurleigh, six miles north of Bedford, England.

Williams received the Air Medal on 1 Dec 42, oak leaf clusters in lieu of additional Air Medals 7 Feb 43 and 13 Mar 43. He also was awarded the Purple Heart medal for wounds received in action.

Sorry to have been so delinquent, but I lost your address. But I had kept the material intact so that I could mail it, as I felt sure you would contact me again.

Glad to be of help.

Sincerely yours,