31 March, 1944.

SUBJECT: Commendation.

TO : Commanding General, 1st Bombardment Division, APO 634.

The performance of the units of the 1st Division on 29 March in landing safely under extremely bad weather conditions all the aircraft which returned from the day's mission, merits special commendation. At the time of their arrival over base, the weather unexpectedly became very bad and some of the landings were made in the face of conditions of extremely low ceiling and visibility. That your units were able to do this without the loss of a single aircraft speaks well for their competence and for their training and supervision. I wish you would convey to the crews and commanders concerned my congratulations for this exceptionally fine piece of work.
