SUGGESTION BOX:

SUGGESTION: "What the hell is wrong with this army of ours any way? When they have to station an officer at each door of the S.I.'s mess to search them as they go through the door, and a Major too, receiving flying pay. If that is all the army has for those guys to do, I suggest that they give them 85 points, declare them non-essential and give them a discharge.

ANSWER: The same thing that has always been wrong with it. A few people who can't conduct themselves properly cause inconvenience to all the rest. A few people, probably you were one, borrowed all the silverware and dishes from the Red Cross and failed to return them causing all the people who use the Red Cross to have to do without and causing the Officers to whom you refer to have to resort to that means to get the Red Cross property back.

Incidentally they all have over 85 points and were doing their duty as Squadron Commanders which includes a multitude of unpleasant duties as well as flying.
